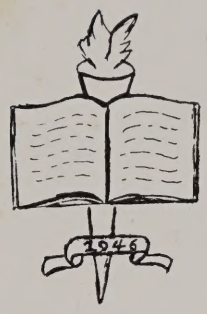
The Core



Louisa County High School

These are the halls where we shouted and giggled and played and went reluctantly to class. These are the shrubs we helped to plant, and this is the cool, green grass we relaxed on at lunch period. This is where we stood to wave at the trains and these are the walks we trod with our most "special" friends. These are the doors through which we entered sleepily in the morning and left gaily at three. This is the building that we will sometimes admit reluctantly that we love—This is Louisa County High School.

PHIL WOOLFREY

Senior Class History

Four years have passed . . . what was begun on that fall day of September, 1942, is finished and we start anew in June, 1946 . . . the end . . . Yes, but the real beginning!

We look back without regret to our beginning . . . all the memories come crowding back . . . both gay and sad . . . and we are lost in reveries.

Our first week as freshmen . . . one hundred and eleven anxious yet timid students eager to learn what it was all about. . . . After registration, our year was planned . . . class officers were elected . . . clubs were formed . . . assemblies were held . . . and lessons were assigned . . . all preparing us for the years ahead.

Our sophomore year proved to be quite exciting . . . we were considered upper classmen. . . . When the year began there were ninety-eight who were eager to push forward. . . . We worked hard to make our second year at L.C.H.S. a success.

September 1944 . . . JUNIORS! Each year proved to be even more precious to our memories . . . sixty-four proud juniors. . . . Having our fingers measured for rings . . . participation in the school clubs . . . the Junior-Senior party . . . aiding the war effort . . . and fighting for the finish . . . were some of the activities of this eventful year.

At last . . . SENIORS! All of us had waited with eager anticipation to hear that title ring in our ears. . . . Our number had declined to fifty-nine . . . nine of our original class were in the service of our country . . . and ten had answered the call of wedding bells. . . . This year proved to be bigger than our other three combined. . . . Class officers chosen . . . our Senior play given . . . pictures taken . . . work begun on THE CORE . . . trip to Washington made . . . picnic given us by the Juniors . . . Senior day activities . . . and last, but certainly not least . . . the donning of caps and gowns to receive the coveted diplomas. . . . We look back only with the thought of learning from the past how to build a better future. . . . Yes . . . with no regrets we face the world and the Future.

Farewell

There is a time when friends must part
And say good-by to happy days,
And now that time has come to pass,
We must prepare to go our ways.

Adieu, dear pal, L C. H. S.
How much we miss you, none can tell.
To all our friends and teachers too
We'll say, not good-by, but farewell.

We have enjoyed our stay with you;
We're sorry that from you we must part,
Each one of us will think of you
And store your memory in his heart.

Freshman Sketches

We Freshmen were very much excited when we arrived at L.C.H.S. in the Fall. Our knees were knocking and we didn't know what to do. We assembled in the auditorium and were grouped with our teacher. After registration was over, we began to feel acquainted

We were divided into four sections with four teachers each of whom teach two subjects. There are about one-hundred-twenty of us.

Our subjects are English, Civics, Science, Math or Algebra. Agriculture is offered for the boys who meet certain requirements.

The Freshmen have been active in collections for Junior Red Cross, The Victory Bond Drive, War Funds, and March of Dimes as shown below:

1. Junior Red Cross drive $12.04 out of $24.35 total.
2. V Bond Sales $9,450 out of a total of $10,300.
3. War Relief Fund $45.00 out of a total of $95.00.
4. March of Dimes $25.00 out of a total of $61.37.

We elected the following officers who have served faithfully:

President—Robert Clough.
Vice-President—Martha Ann Poindexter.
Secretary-Treasurer—Bennie Luck, Jr.

Our Vice-President soon got to work and organized a program committee which planned assemblies for the Freshmen every Friday during winter months and every other Friday during spring and fall. Our program consists of devotionals, readings, musical selections, essays, recitations, debates, and news.

The Freshmen entered the speaking, spelling, and reading contests in April, winning the spelling contest.

We issue pamphlets each May to the seventh graders all over the county telling them of the activities of the Freshmen. It is customary to entertain them each spring. We are planning a play and music when they visit us.

We put on two programs for Regular Assembly; one of these was the Christmas Program. The Christmas Program is usually built up around some well known Christmas classic, like Kate Douglass Wiggins' The Birds' Christmas Carol and Dickens' A Christmas Carol. Christmas, 1945, the program featured O'Henry's Gift of the Magi and Henry Van Dyke's The Other Wise Man. At the end of this program an offering of a little more than $20 was received for the benefit of the Louisa County Memorial Hospital.

It is indeed a pleasure to be a Freshman of dear L.C.H.S.

DONATED BY
ELECTRIC SERVICE CO.
G. L. SHANER

No, no, no, no; and end of it!" he cried once. And again,
If it comes to swinging, swing all, say I.

—R. L. Stevenson, in Treasure Island.

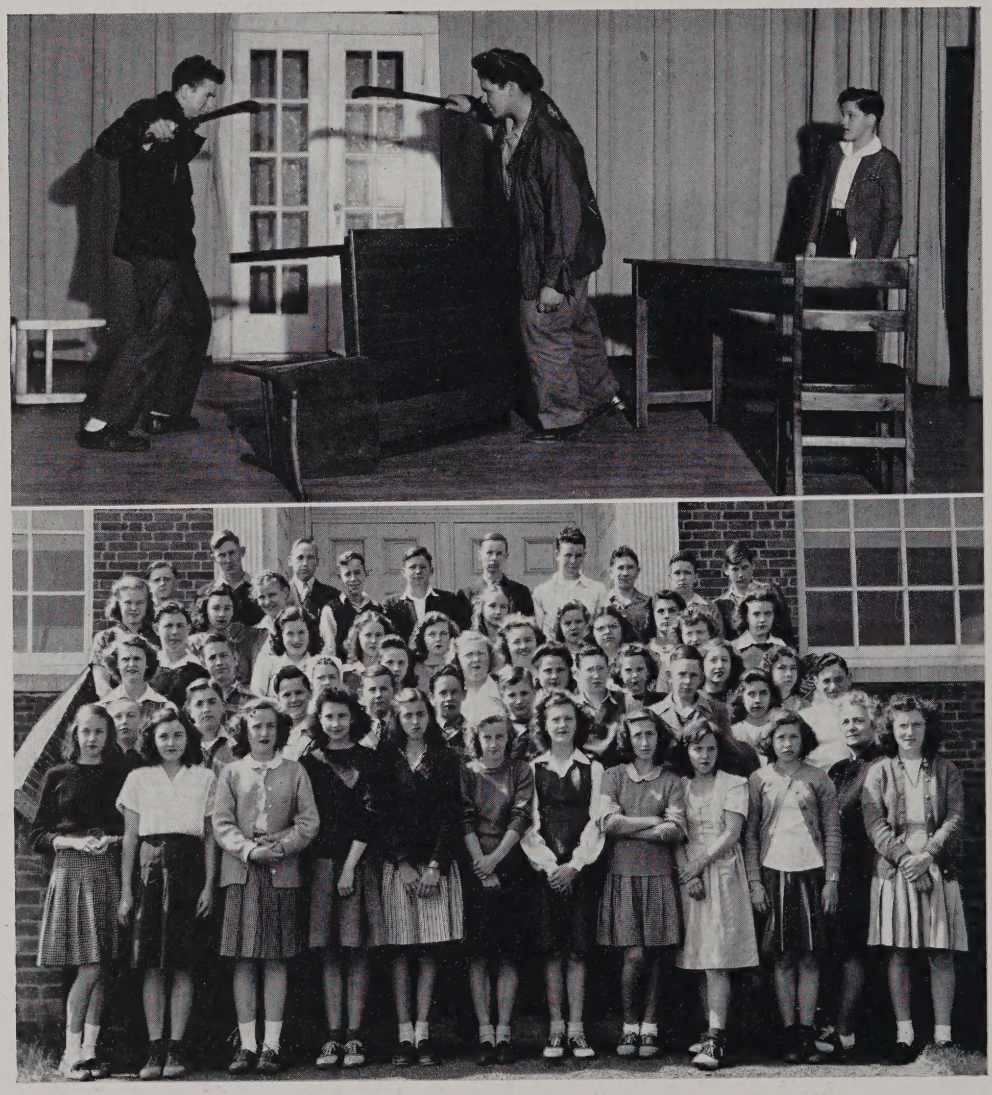
Various members of the English I Class wrote the eleven scenes used in the dramatization of Robert Louis Stevenson's Treasure Island, which was presented at the program given by the Freshmen for the Seventh Grades of the County, about the middle of May.



The Singing Group

Approximately 35 girls and 25 boys make up a volunteer singing group sometimes called the Freshman Glee Club. These boys and girls meet as a class twice a week, and form a choir for leading the singing at Freshman Assemblies.

Due to the increased interest in Singing the members of the Freshman Class contributed money to buy song books for the entire class.

We, the Core Staff of 1946 present this book to our fellow students and it is our hope that it meets with your approval. We labored under several handicaps to produce this book, but we have no regrets for the time and effort so spent. To you who helped and to our friends who advertised in our book we extend our hearty thanks. Au revoir.

The Student Council

Of the people, by the people, and for the people.—Abraham Lincoln

We of L.C.H.S. are firm believers in democracy. In the miniature government of our school we get training in our beloved American tradition. "The majority rules" is our motto, and we have practiced it more here than in the average high school. The Student Council has charge of the assembly programs and various other school activities.

The Newspaper Club

The Newspaper Club, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Owen, is an organization of our journalistic-minded students. We have a page in our weekly county paper, The Central Virginian. There is always a grand rush on Friday morning to the "C.V." Our officers are constantly beseiged with questions as to the origin of the gossip columns, but they always maintain a Sphinx-like silence. Long live the gossip column!

"The Maskers"

The Maskers, our L.C.H.S. Dramatics Club, is affiliated with the National Thespians Society. This year The Maskers gave two presentations of a delightful three-act version of the old fairy-tale, Cinderella of Loreland. They also produced a once-act play for state contest purposes. The club made much of their lighting equipment, which is both ingenious and effective. Membership is determined by tryouts.

The Music Class

Music is the speech of angels.

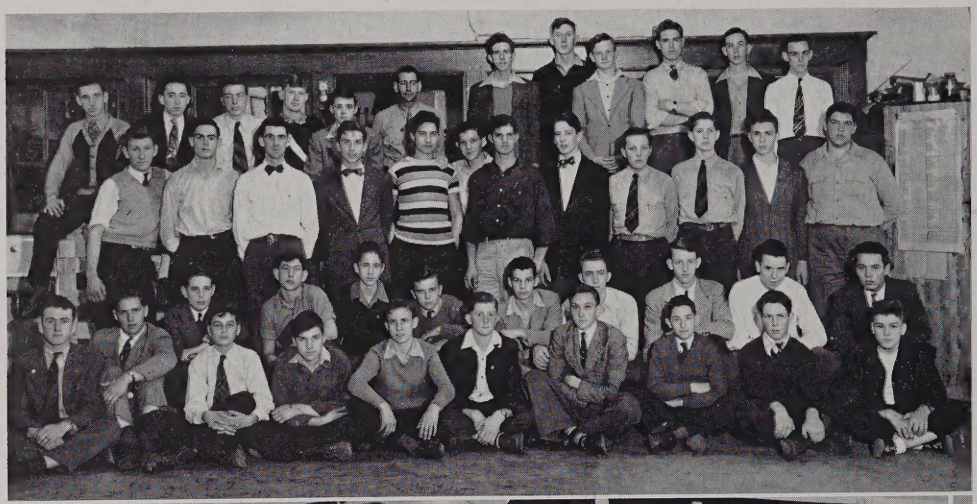
Twenty-one lucky students receive weekly musical instruction from Miss Carolease Woodward. If you should hear a hesitating "John Peel" issuing forth from the music room, you'll know that there you'll find one of the students. All the music scholars took part in a recital in May.

Music Appreciation

Eleven girls, being desirous of obtaining an appreciation understanding of all types of music, formed a Music Appreciation Club, with Mr. Ballagh as sponsor. To this end the Club acquired a quantity of literature on types of music and a number of recordings made by famous composers, ranging from popular hit tunes to classical works.

Keep Virginia Green Crew

The Keep Virginia Green Crew, which was known last year as the Forest Fire Fighter Service, is an organization of forty-four boys, whose purpose is to help prevent and control one of the greatest enemies of nature, fires. They have a set of their own tools, and several times they have been called to assist in putting out fires. They receive regular wages for their services, and have been highly commended for it. The organization is divided into four units, as follows: Fredericks Hall, Apple Grove, Louisa, and Green Springs.



Safety Patrol

The Safety Patrol was first organized in the fall of 1940. It has been a very active and helpful organization throughout the school years and has steadily grown in membership. There are twenty-three members, including the captain, Bennie Prestwood, and two lieutenants, Charles Southworth and Wilbur Vogt. Their main duties consist of bus patrol, and extending as much aid as possible to the bus drivers and small children.

Home Economics Club

Since the organization of the Home Economics Club in 1943 the members have participated in many activities. Each year the goals which were set up have been accomplished. The aim of the Club is to promote a well-rounded program of living for high school girls, and to take part in civic activities. Each year the membership has grown until this year our enrollment is 33.

F. F. A.

An organization throughout the United States by and for boys studying Agriculture in High School.

The FFA was organized in 1928 but did not become well known until the past few years.

The purpose of the organization is not only to develop farm-citizenship but also train farm boys in leadership and character development, sportsmanship, cooperation, service, thrift, scholarship, improved agriculture, organized recreation, citizenship and patriotism.

The Library Club

Good books are good friends

The library club is composed of eight girls and one boy, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Owen. It is one of the hardest working and most successful of the school's extra curricular activities. The members, after being instructed in the rudiments of library science, work at the circulation desk and help pupils find desired books and information. In spare moments they gossip and flirt with the library's patrons.

Art Appreciation Club

As the sun colors flowers, so does art color life.

Allusions to the smile of Mona Lisa or to the Blue Boy is safe conversational territory for the members of this club. They studied some of the famous painters and their works. Names like Millet and Rembrandt have become familiar to them.

Darwin's Little Workers

The Science Club was sponsored by Mrs. A. C. Marshall, and affiliated with "The Science Club of America."

The members availed themselves of the opportunity to further their knowledge and interest by working as a club twice a week. Their work consisted of collecting specimens and doing further research work than could be done in regular classroom exercises. It was very instructive and enjoyed by all.

The Social Side of Life

As our every day living becomes more complex social life and recreation for the masses becomes more of public concern. It is believed that our schools of tomorrow will sponsor a program of wholesome recreation. Here we see a club made up of the fine young womanhood of our community, who we hope will be the moral and spirited leaders of our community of tomorrow.

The Curriculum

Post Graduates

RANDALL VAUGHN DAVIS WILLIAM BARRETT MEREDITH, JR.
BEN PAYNE JARRETT

At our school young people who have already graduated find a welcome to further their educational pursuits; and thereby the better to fit themselves for a vocation or for entering college.

Our session of 1945-46 was planned and begun under wartime conditions. As a result our curriculum was unavoidably curtailed to some extent, due to needed personnel not being available. This situation was not limited to our county only, but has been a general school problem throughout the state and nation; but "Forward" will be our watchword for the future. It is expected that a few of the members of our class of 1946, to better fit themselves for further education or for life, will return to their Alma Mater next September. Those who are able to procure a worth-while course in additional subjects which will be profitable to them are well aware that they will find the latch string of Alma Mater hanging on the outside.

Man works from sun to sun,
But woman's work is never done.

With respect to our course of study, we present first a pin-picture of home making, that noblest profession of all. It is not taken for granted, or even expected, that every girl who becomes an alumna of our school will make a mark in the business or professional world. The fact is realized that the large majority will become home makers, and we are agreeably of the opinion that that is as it should be. As we believe that, if our young womanhood leaves school prepared to become good home makers, then our school has fulfilled one of its abounding duties to society. We never forget the proverbial saying, "A nation is no stronger than its hearthstones."

No picture could adequately portray the aims as set forth in our subject matter fields of mathematics, Language Arts, and social studies. Vocational courses have more definite objectives, but these core subjects have that more broad application of supplying the individual with certain necessary items of knowledge, which he may use to attain his objective in a specialized field. It is also these core subjects which inculcate in the individual those principles of citizenship, morality, frugality; and the ability to use his leisure better to his own advantage, and less to the detriment of society.

In mathematics, besides the essential knowledge and skills in problem solving, the individual is afforded the opportunity of attaining that habit of exactness, which is found to be so essential to success.

Social science teaches us to appreciate our wonderful heritage; and, as citizens, participate in such a way as to protect and preserve it.

Through English one may become more fully an individual by mastering the art of correct expression; and from the classics we recall those things which are pleasant to be remembered.

To follow knowledge like a sinking star,
Beyond the utmost bound of human thought.

—Tennyson.

From science we learn to understand and appreciate the mysteries of the universe; and to equip and adapt ourselves to live in a scientific age, an age which will be very different from the age of our fathers. Ours is the problem to decide whether man is the master or the slave of machine.

In biology we learn to live healthier, and to better understand and appreciate life; and chemistry gives us some knowledge of the ninety-two elements which make up the mysterious universe. From general science and physical science, formerly called natural philosophy, we learn a scientific rather than a superstitious understanding of our surroundings

Agriculture to us means the science of better food production, and better home planning in order that those among us who desire the purity of the open air and freedom of rural life may better keep up with the pace set by our city cousins. Furthermore, since the frontier can no longer move westward to new lands, our school of agriculture teaches us to conserve our soil and use it to the best advantage. This is one course of study which does not end with the classroom, but a necessary followup is provided to assist and supervise our work as we put our classroom knowledge to practical use. In other words this phase of our school activity is not only preparation for life, but actually life itself. Here we also regard our shop with a great deal of pride, for no class A high school in the state can boast a better one.

In the sweat of their faces they shall eat bread.

Business is purely a vocational subject, taught for the purpose of enabling us to acquire certain skills. Those skills in turn should fit us the better to conduct our own future business, or to more adequately compete with others amid the future struggle for employment.

A mind needs a healthy home to dwell in.

We do not lost sight of the fact that wholesome recreation serves a valuable function. Also many valuable lessons are learned on the athletic field; for throughout life the successful person must be a good winner and equally as good when he loses.
